

Leadership Formation: How Did We Get into the Mess We Are In and How Do We Get Out

A presentation and conversation with The Rev. Dr. William J. Pugliese

Progressive Episcopalians of Pittsburgh (PEP) advocates for strong bonds with the wider Episcopal Church, for a diocesan community bound together in charity and grace, and for an inclusive and just church and society.

The Rev. Dr. William J. Pugliese has served churches in the Roman Catholic Diocese of Greensburg and the Episcopal Dioceses of West Virginia, Northwestern Pennsylvania, Spokane, and Iowa in his almost 45 years as a priest. He is canonically resident in Iowa but lives with his wife, Arlena, in Cranberry Township. After retiring in October 2008 and moving home to Pennsylvania—he was born and reared in New Kensington—he served for almost five years as Interim at St. Brendan's in Franklin Park and, after a four-month sabbatical, began in February as Priest-in-Charge at St. Paul's in Kittanning. He serves on the Calvary Camp Board and on the Strategic Task Force Committee, and he co-leads the Fresh Start program for clergy in transition.
